More for Your Money

Compared to analog solutions, MOTOTRBO™ offers twice the calling capacity for the price of one license—thanks to Time-Division Multiple-Access (TDMA) technology. A second call doesn't require a second repeater, saving on equipment. MOTOTRBO utilizes Motorola's IMPRES™ technology in batteries, chargers and audio accessories in providing longer talk times and clearer audio delivery.

Moreover, MOTOTRBO radios are built to last. They meet demanding standards: U.S. Military Standards 810 C, D, E, and F, and, for portable radios, IP57 for submersibility in water. So they're ready for the harsh conditions your employees may face.

Better Communication—and More Options

With MOTOTRBO's digital technology, audio stays clear throughout the coverage area—for fewer misunderstandings and more effective conversations. Battery life that's up to 40 percent longer than that of a traditional analog radios helps ensure productivity—no time wasted in changing batteries during a work shift. MOTOTRBO radios give you the flexibility to call an individual radio, group of radios, or every radio in your system.

But MOTOTRBO's communication versatility doesn't stop there. Advanced digital technology brings support for new applications, such as Text Messaging Services, which provides an easy way to send critical data and saves users from having to write it down.

In addition, all MOTOTRBO radios support emergency call signaling—which provides flexible emergency-response options even for operations that don't have a central dispatcher.

Keep Track of Your People

With the GPS-based Location Services, you can track where your portables and mobiles are. This makes it easier to manage personnel and vehicles to ensure safety and productivity.

A Complete, Flexible, Highly Capable System

MOTOTRBO brings you a private, standards-based, cost-effective solution that can be tailored to meet your unique coverage and feature needs—with the flexibility that a complete system offers—portables, mobiles, repeaters, applications, accessories and services.
